Wheat Crop Prospect.

The outlook for a good crop of wheat in this county is not as encouraging as it was at a corresponding time last year. There are many fine crops in the southern part of the county, but in many other sections it is very indifferent, and in some neighborhoods the crop will be a failure. Many large fields have been attacked by the rust and will not make seed, and in some places the stock have been turned in and are grazing the fields. The crop is in heading and harvesting will commence about June 15, but it remains to be seen whether or not the meshes will fill with grain of merchantable character. We have head very little complaint of damage by the army worm throughout this section.

The gallant offer was readily and confidingly accepted, but no sooner had the women left their dear charges to the care of those mischlevous young reseals than they commenced stuffing giving one the apparel of another until they were transmografied.

The dance and the music continued into the "wee smal hours" and then it was time to go home. The lights were lowered and each mother hurriedly took a baby, in the dress of her own, and started for home, which, in many instances, was fifteen miles away, and started for home, which, in many instances, was fifteen miles away, and started for home, which, in many instances, was fifteen miles away, as a prodigious row in the settlement. HER MISTAKE.

An Elderly Woman Whose Benev-olence Was Misplaced.

Motherly Instinct Led Her Into krievous Error—Why an Undersized Man Was Offered a Seat in Her Lap.

Man was offered a seat

Man was offered a seat

There is a woman on the West side who still shudders when she thinks of a blunder she made one day in a Summit street car, says the Detroit Free Press. She is an elderly woman, with sons old enough to attend the high school, and is of a mild and benign disposition. She does notsee well without her glasses,
and to this she attributes her misfortune.

About eight o'clock in the evening of one of the very cold days she had a seat in a Summit street car.
It was crowded with shoppers and men going home from work. Standing in front of her, with his back turned to her, the other passengers saw a very short man. He was having a very hard time keeping on his feet as the car lurched from time to time with the slack of the "cable."
He was too short to hold to the straps, and the best he could do was to hang to the man in front of him.
A look of sympathy passed over the benign-looking woman's face as she witnessed his struggles. When the car rounded the curve at the corner of Ninth and Washington streets it gave a frightful lurch.
The little man was taken off his guard, and landed squarely in the woman's lap. He tried to rise as fast as he could, and excuse himself, when to his surprise and horror, he felt that she was holding him where he was. He tried again to get up, but she held him tighter than before.

"That's all right, little boy, sit still." she said kindly, with a smile.

he was. He tried again to get up, but she held him tighter than before.

"That's all right, little boy, sit still." she said kindly, with a smile. Passengers were staring in annaement at the unusual spectacle, and the ribbon-counter girl in the corner of the car ittered adulably.

The undersized victim began to squirm, but his captor attributed it to his boyish embarrassment. It was only when he turned his big round eyes on her and said, in a deep bass voice: "Will you be kind enough to let me go, madam?" that she discovered that she had made a horrible mistake. She had taken him for a mere boy, and her motherly instinct had asserted itself at seeing him stand up in a crowded car. Her confusion was painful to witness. She stammered a few words of explanation, which the short man was too rattled to reply to. The passengers were cruel enough to laugh, and they both looked as though they wished themselves far away. At the nearest corner she got out, her cheeks still crimson with mortification. The short man took her seat, jammed his hat down hard over his forehead and buried himself in his newspaper.

An English clergyman was preach-himself in his newspaper.

An English elergyman was preaching in a country church in Scotland. He had as his subject: "The Prodigal Son." "And the prodigal so awent away from his poor old father and remained in a far country for years and years and years, and his father mourned his absence for years and years. But after years and years he came back to his poor old father, and his poor years and years." An old, farmer in the audience cound contain himself no longer: "Yer a le'er, it wud hae bin a coo," he exclaimed.—Ram's Horn.

We are authorized to announce JUDGE JOHN PHELPS as a candidate for Circuit Court Judge in district, subject to the action of the De-cratic party. Election November 5, 1896.

The Kickapoo Indian country was opened to settlement Thursday, and 1,500 settlers engaged in a mad rush for the 440 homesteads.

Hugh McCulloch, Secretary of the Treasury under Lincoln, Johnson and Arthur, died last week at his home in Maryland, aged 87 years.

Oscar Wilde, the aesthetic author of sunflower notoriety, has been convict-ed of a disgusting crime in London and sentenced to two years' imprison-ment at hard labor.

The reported death of Jose Marti, the insurgent president in the Cuban revolution, has been confirmed, but the rebellion is by no means subdued. Two more Spanish gunboats are en-route to Cuba.

continue, wages remain low and employment scarce, as they would claim by that all these hardships were the result of the Wilson bill. But times are improving rapidly and every day the telegraph announces an increase in wages in some manufactory. Even down at Wilmington, Del., wages have been increased 10 per cent. and Carnegie has also increased wages the same amount. Before 1896 the Republicans will have to look for some other cause with which to oppose the Democrats.—Paducah News.

Mr. Carlisle gravely states in his set speech advocating the financial doctrines of John Sherman, that no country can maintain a "double standard" of currency. This in the face of his own report as Secretary of the Treasury, in which he gives a list of a dozen of the principal nations of the earth whose "standard" is "gold and silver." In this list are France, Spain, Italy, Belguim, Switzerland and others in Europe, and Argentine, Chili and Venezuela in South Americo. Mr. Carlisle should at least try to make his utterances as an "offensive partisan" consist with his official reports.

OPPOSED TO RINGERS.

[Richmond Register.]

The race for the next Democratic nomination for Governor of Kentucky has been made up, and no dark horse or "Polk Badgref" ringer will be allowed. The entry books have been closed, and the contest is between Hon. Cassius M. Clay, Jr., of Bourbon county, and Hon. P. Wat Hardin, of Mercer. As for the Register and its husehold, it has no concealments to make, no skeletons to hide, but declares emphatically for the Bourbon-Madison entry. It has no hard words for Gen. Hardin, but in the present fiery ordeal through which the Democratic party of the State is passing—in which is involved its very existence—it can see but one path to prudence, honesty, fidelity and the best interests of the people of the whole Commonwealth.

Secretary Carlisle will deliver his financial speech again at Louisville tomorrow, which will conclude the series of arguments he was sent to deliver in Kentucky for the gold standard. Mr. Carlisle displays the usual zeal of a new convert, but adds nothing new to the subject. The speech he is making is a rehash of what John Sherman has been saying for twenty years. Demonetization of silver was wrong when Mr. Carlisle demoned it as "a great erime" and t is wrong yet. Men may change but principles are eternal.

for 50 cents of it, and a better one for 75 cents. The fact is we like to take silver in exchange for goods. Of course if you only have paper money we will let it buy in some way. Gold buys here also—and in future in any of these malbuns of exchange we will allow you a discount of 100 per cent on Boy's and Children's Clothings—until the present lot is exhausted. We have a few left of the famous 50c pants for boys. Won't last long.

Men's Shoes * * *

500 Pairs of Marcy Bros. welts to close -no shoe better, but we will close this line in face of the greet advance at greatly reduced prices.

Oxford's

Go at the lowest possible prices from this on. We have marked them down low—all goods are marked in plain figures, and the smallest child can buy as well and as cheaply as grown persons.

Another big shipment of 25c Balbriggan Underwear.
